Chamber joins Town in crusade to keep NLLS HQ

The Elk Point Chamber of Commerce has joined the Town of Elk Point in their crusade to keep the Northern Lights Library headquarters in Elk Point.

Mayor Ed Buck, who had attended the September 12 NLLS meeting in Vermilion, told the Chamber last week that at a NLLS executive meeting in June, a list of the current headquarters' shortcomings was presented, and a motion made to recommend at the September general meeting that the headquarters be moved from Elk Point. A criteria list for a new headquarters was to be drawn up and presented at that time, and letters would be sent out to member communities after that time advising them of the decision after which invitations to submit proposals would be distributed. However, Buck said, a letter from Vermilion Town Council was read later in the June meeting advising that property had been set aside for a new headquarters should a decision be made to relocate. "Obviously someone from the board had had discussions with Vermilion's council," Buck said.

The list of deficiencies is "very offensive. To me, there are too many things that aren't

Two in the running for Elk Point mayor's chair

Voters in Elk Point will go to the polls next Monday to elect a mayor to head their municipal government. Four councillors were elected by acclamation after submitting their nominations on September 21: incumbents Mae Hendrickson, Bill Schuhmacher and Walter Lesyk and newcomer Denis Jasinsky.

Candidates for mayor are incumbent Ed Buck and Gordon West. To help you make your choice, we interviewed both of these worthy candidates:

Ed Buck (incumbent)

Ed Buck has lived in Elk Point the past 38 years, was raised in the Heinsburg area and attended the University of Alberta. He and his wife Marie have three adult children, all of whom are married. Buck's involvement with Town Council goes back over the past 30 years, and his current term is his third as mayor. He has also served the community on the school board, and helped with organization of St. Paul Regional School Division #1. He was the vice chair of the appointment committee for regional hospital boards in Alberta and has been on the board of directors of the Alberta Road Builders and Heavy Construction for three years. Buck decided to seek another term as mayor because he feels a responsibility to the community to deal with a number of major issues which will impact the community for some time to come. He feels his expertise will help to resolve these issues in the community's best interests. To Buck, "Elk Point is #1", and his goal is to make it a better place to live and grow.

Buck's election platforms include retaining municipal taxes at the current level, where they have remained for seven years. He feels this is important in attracting new residents and businesses.

Buck also wants to retain the health centre at its present level, and to look at increasing its function, as well as to get Elk Point the best possible gas franchise with the most economical gas rates.

Buck has been dedicated to the community for many years and has been involved in almost every recreational and municipal project during that time. He "lives and breathes Elk Point, period," and wants to help Council make decisions that cover the best interests of the whole community. "The bottom line is, I'm proud to live in Elk Point."

Gordon West

Gordon West and his wife Judy have six children, and have lived in Elk Point for the past four years. He has a background in power engineering as well as a degree in education from the University of Lethbridge, and recently took a position teaching junior high students at Heinsburg. West is well known to basketball fans and players in the area as a referee, and is president of the Lakeland Association of Basketball Officials. He is interested in all sports and recently played competitive soccer for the first time. West has been involved in Scouting for the past 25 years, and is the Scoutmaster in St. Paul, where two of his sons are members. In his former home town of Taber, West was a member of the volunteer fire department and an ambulance attendant.

West has "been thinking about running (for municipal office) for the past couple of years."

Two contest the mayor's chair

He feels people want to be informed about what's happening, and doesn't think this has always happened in the past.

As mayor, West would listen to the people of the community as to their needs, desires and aspirations. He would be open and honest with the citizens, and would encourage both small and large businesses. He would be open to suggestions and opinions that would make the town better, and is willing to gain the knowledge necessary to be a good mayor.

West assures voters that he will "listen to them. People are important." Campaigning has given West the opportunity to meet many local residents for the first time, as much of his time to the point has been spent outside of Elk Point, although he has met many through his involvement with basketball and through delivering the daily paper with his sons.

from the ~~FCSS~~ DESK

The welcoming door of optimism

By Deanna Easthope
FCSS Director

Habits of thinking and patterns of believing have consequences. The way we look at the world, in large measure, shapes the kind of life we will have. Do we see potential and possibility - or do we dwell on defeat and despair? Do we recognize opportunity and blessings - or are we blinded by what seems to be "bad luck?" Shakespeare (Hamlet, act 2, scene 3) has written, "There is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so." How we think and what we believe literally determine the amount of good or bad that we find with us and around us.

Hundreds of studies show that optimists perform more productively than pessimists. Even when facing the same unfavorable circumstances, optimists persist in well-doing. They do much better in school and at work; their health is better - they may even live longer. Optimists believe that tomorrow will come, circumstances will improve, solutions will be discovered, and that somehow it'll all work out. They believe that life is basically good, and they give thanks to God for the blessings - and even the challenges - of life.

Pessimists, on the other hand, are always aware of what's wrong, what could be better, and what hasn't worked in the past. They feel as though they were born to fail and believe that, if there is a God, He must have forgotten about them. Unlike the Pollyanna, who makes a game out of being glad, they may look for reasons to be unhappy.

We have all just finished our traditional Canadian Thanksgiving Weekend. Yes, it was a time for families to get together and enjoy each other's company. But it was also a time to ponder about all the things we were/are thankful for - from the food we eat - the freedom we enjoy to the beautiful country we live in.

Have you ever thought of it? If we are not a people who are optimistic - then we are not going to recognize the things around us as blessings. It then follows: we are not going to be thankful. So instead of being glad - like most people were on Thanksgiving, they were looking for reasons to be unhappy. They were the pessimists.

To put it simply; yes, there are lots of "mixed-up" things happening in the world today. The news media has kept us informed. However, there is still some "good" things happening around us that isn't being reported by the media. Our daily lives will be different if we remember the good things of the day. For example, if a person were to keep a diary and for each day - list five things that happened which they feel good about, they would soon start to feel a change in their outlook on life ... Something to think about. ... The Welcoming Door of Optimism.

F. G. Miller Awards correction

Matt Lee, a Grade 12 student from last year, was missed for an Honorable Mention award. Matt had an excellent year in Grade 12 both academically and athletically in the school.

Principal Jim Hawkins and the F. G. Miller staff believe that Matt was a good example of a dedicated and reliable citizen in the school community. Matt worked hard in all his classes and positively represented the school on the many sports teams he played on.

Principal Hawkins and the F. G. Miller staff deeply regret this omission and Principal Hawkins has apologized to Matt and the Lee family.

Diabetes Awareness Days

WHEREAS 1998 is the 45th anniversary of the Canadian Diabetes Association, and;

WHEREAS the Canadian Diabetes Association, is the leading non-government source for research, education, service, and advocacy to improve the quality of life for the 1.5 million Canadians with diabetes, and;

WHEREAS the cure for diabetes is still unknown and the proceeds of this campaign will, in part, support the diabetes research in Alberta as well as education, service and advocacy toward promotion of the health of

Canadians, and;

WHEREAS diabetes is known as Canada's "Silent Epidemic";

THEREFORE I, Mayor Buck, DO PROCLAIM October 15 to November 1 as

"DIABETES AWARENESS DAYS" in Elk Point and urge all to respond to the needs of the Canadian Diabetes Association.

Dated this 16th day of September 1998.

■ Heeere's Michele!

It's the beachside librarian!!

Hi Everybody!

Well, I've been on the job a month and so far I'm really enjoying myself. I am the Head of the Cataloguing Department and oversee a staff of one library clerk and one work study student. I also learned that they want me to teach the introductory cataloguing course in the library science program next semester. I found a cozy one-bedroom apartment which is only a ten-minute walk to the nearest beach. I've been to a number of beaches and, yes, I did get sunburned (just once).

For the first two weeks, all the new College staff from away were staying at the British Colonial Hotel in downtown Nassau. It is currently undergoing a major renovation. The new staff are a pretty cool bunch of people. They include: another librarian, also from Canada, who has been working in Barbados for the past two years; a lecturer in Spanish and French who was born in Costa Rica, raised in Quebec and who recently received his PhD from UBC; a nursing lecturer, along with her husband and 18-year-old son, also from Canada but coming from 6 years in Texas; a music lecturer from the North of England; an English lecturer from Boston; a French lecturer who has been living in Paris.

Joanne, the music lecturer, was the first one of us to arrive and was the first to find an apartment. When my two weeks at the hotel were up, I stayed with her until I could move into my place. My apartment is nice if you don't consider the fact that I'm still without living room furniture. I have air conditioning in both the living room and the bedroom and it is a godsend right now since we're still enjoying summer. It is warm and humid.

Continuing with the weather report, one week after I arrived, Hurricane Bonnie swept past the Bahamas. We had a few breezy days and the water was a little rough at the beach. Last week, Hurricane Georges sideswiped us on his way to the Florida Keys. We had a couple of significant squalls and the power went out at my place for a few hours. Joanne, who was also without power, invited myself and Laurette (another librarian who lives in the same apartment complex) to her place to wait out the storm and possibly spend the night. She has a gas stove so she could cook dinner. Power was returned about 8 p.m. and I was home in time to catch the season premiere of ER.

Hurricanes, conch chowder and choir practice...

Hurricane season is still upon us so who knows what will happen. It is also the rainy season and while it does not rain every day, when it does it is usually short but intense. It comes down in buckets and Nassau is not blessed with storm sewers so there are always huge pools of water for a day or two after a rain. Whatever you may have heard about the bugs (meaning cockroaches) in the Bahamas is true. My first night in my apartment I met a rather large, very black specimen in the bathroom. I have also encountered a few smaller, brown types. These are the ones you have to watch out for because they reproduce rapidly. I put out some stuff to eradicate the little pests and so far it is working. There are also little lizards that crawl all over the exterior of buildings. These are kind of cute and since they eat insects, they're not a problem. Tim, my brother-in-law, suggested that I make friends with the lizards and give them names. I haven't gone that far but as long as they stay outside, we can co-exist peacefully.

The college has a choir, open to students and staff, that I have joined. So far there have been four practices and I have managed to make it to one. The choir practices on Thursday afternoons which is a time set aside for meetings and other campus activities; no classes are scheduled. For the first three weeks I had meetings during practice time. I made it to the fourth to discover that the choir will be singing a couple of songs at a closing ceremony the following week. One of the songs is the national anthem which I have never even heard. Joanne has promised that once she learns it, she will teach it to me. We will also be singing at the installation ceremony for the new college president and at Christmas. It's fun to be singing again.

I've been having a lot of fun learning about various aspects of Bahamian culture. I've tried conch in its various forms (conch chowder, conch salad, cracked conch, fried conch). I've drunk more beer in the first four weeks here than I have in the last four years (always Bahamian beer). I'm looking forward to experiencing Junkanoo at Christmas. This is a major event in the Bahamas with a number of groups competing to be the best. They have been practicing for weeks already and I love the drumming, horns and whistles. I can't wait to see the parades with the costumes and dancing. Junkanoo starts about 1 a.m. on Boxing Day and goes until around 9 or 10 a.m. Then they do it all again on New Year's Day. It's kind of like Mardi Gras only Bahamian.

That's all for now. If you would like to get in touch with me my e-mail address is: mduczek@hotmail.com

My mailing address is: Michele Duczek

The Good Old Hockey Game -- who's going to play this year?

By Doug Bassett

Review Sports

Decisions, decisions, decisions. It's a numbers crunch. Here's the dilemma. What do you do when you only have eight Midget players registered and eight Bantam players? Well, that's easy, you bring the Bantam players up to play with the Midgets and make one team. It's been done in the past.

That works O.K. for some of the second year players who are bigger and stronger and not intimidated, but what about the first year Bantams. Will they survive playing with players a foot taller and 50 lbs. heavier? And will the parents allow them to play with players four years older, who can drive, have girlfriends, and like to party.

O.K. I agree this year was one of the worst, when the oil patch died, families moved and so did hockey players. But the lower levels still have players. Let's face it, small town hockey is dying.

So what happened to our players? Players quit because they have other interests, like girls, or need jobs to pay for their insurance on their pick-up trucks. They quit because they are a medre player, the game becomes too competitive and they can't keep up, and spend time on the bench because the team needs to win. Or maybe they quit because the game becomes too rough and it's not worth getting injured. They leave our system because they have excelled, it's not competitive enough, and they fear that they may not be scouted in a small town. Or their parents just can't afford the time or money involved.

Now, here's the good news. There's 17 peewee players registered, 15 atom players, and even though the novice numbers are low, micro novice have 14 registered. O.K., so what's the big deal. There's enough players to keep things going in the future.

Take a look at the pictures in the lobby of the arena, see how many of the Midget and Bantam aged players there are from five or six years ago in Atom and Peewee that have left the system. There's always been two Atom teams and a big Peewee team. How can it happen that from five years ago, when there was two Atom teams, until now when you can't make a team at Bantam or at Midget. The big deal is, without hockey teams, you don't have the revenue to operate the arena. Without revenue the doors will close!

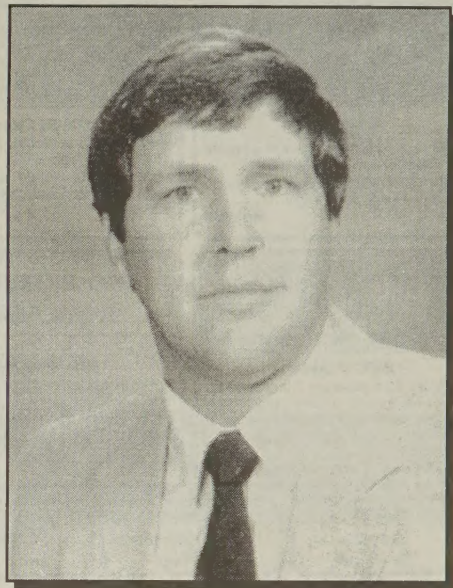

If history repeats itself, as I think it may, then it will be many years before Elk Point will ice a team of Bantams or Midgets again. And the sad part is, 16 players, who know they are not going to the NHL, and only want to play with their friends and do battle against the Pitbulls, have nowhere to play. The days of the Thunder and Lightning may be gone forever!

VOTE GORDON WEST FOR MAYOR

Platform

- I will: - Listen to the people of Elk Point as to their needs, desires and aspirations
- Be open and honest with the citizens of our town
 - Encourage business, small and large
 - Be open to suggestions and opinions that will make our town better
 - Will gain the knowledge necessary to be a great mayor

Please Vote Oct. 19/98

OREST BOYKO

FIRST COMMITMENT:

- 1) Serve and represent the views of residents of Division 2.
- 2) Serve and represent St. Paul County No. 19

MISSION STATEMENT: Believes county should promote a strong leadership with guiding principles toward facilitating good education, provide and improve proper emergency medical services in Elk Point, and also encourage and create an environment of co-operation between Agriculture, Oil and Gas, and a strong service industry.

PHILOSOPHY TOWARD MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT

What I feel county council's responsibilities are:

- 1) A first level of government to act as a go between for the public and the Provincial Government in power.
- 2) To regulate and administer taxpayers' money in the most efficient manner possible, and creating an environment that private industry can thrive, the end result being a larger tax base and a better standard of living for all taxpayers in the County of St. Paul.
- 3) In no way should a government of any level be in business or competing with taxpayers.

MOST CRITICAL ISSUE OF THE DAY:

One of the most important issues facing Div. 2, is to work unending to save the emergency and hospital services in Elk Point. I am very confident that along with other local people in our area, who are well respected by the Provincial Government, we will be able to retain and improve these services.

The reasons I think this is so important are:

- 1) Due to our large agriculture, oil and gas, and service industries, it is a life and death issue.
- 2) Elk Point and area has a large population of seniors who need medical attention regularly.
- 3) Employment in the hospital for local people, as well as the spin-off effects.

Elk Point athletes making tracks

By Doug Bassett
Review Sports

Well, here it is, October and still no snow. Where's all those pessimists now, that said it would snow in September and stay all winter. Or maybe they were just being optimistic, wishing it would snow so that you wouldn't have to rake up all the leaves, but then you would have to shovel the snow off the walk, so you can't win. But, let me tell you about a young local guy who has been winning. In Track and Field that is, and this isn't the first time we've heard about this guy. Travis Lindquist.

Starting in October and running through to July the North Eastern Alberta Track Club Cheetahs meets twice a week on Mondays and Thursdays from 7:00 pm to 9:00 pm at the Regional High. Travis Lindquist has started to make quite an impact in the club and holds three provincial records, one as a 10 and under Pee wee in the Strength Triathlon and two as an 11 and under Pee wee in the Speed Triathlon and Strength Triathlon. Travis who is coached by Reg Green of St. Paul, works out in the weight room doing drills and practise for the various track events. This season will start off in Edmonton at the Butterdome, with the "Leduc Last Chance Track Meet". During the year, Travis and the other athletes will attend various meets in the province including, Red Deer, St. Albert, Lethbridge, Calgary, as well as out of the province in Saskatoon, Sask., Kelowna, B.C., and Pocatello Idaho. Travis who has competed for the last two years as a Pee wee, will be moving up to Bantam this fall. Here's his personal bests in the various track events. 60m - 9.14 sec., 100m- 14.8 sec., 200m- 30.3 sec., 400m- 1.11.56 sec., 800m- 2:42.13, Long Jump- 4.27m, High Jump- 1.26m, Triple Jump- 8.36m, Shot Put- 7.39m, Tri Strength 633 points, Tri Speed 653 points, Tri stamina- 671 points, Tet Speed- 899 points.

And here's another local young star in track and field. Tanya Pankiw, who also competed recently in a 3 km Cross Country run for the F.G. Miller track team and took 2nd place in the zone. With three older brothers in her family, Tanya had to learn how to run fast! It must be pretty boring for her around her house now, that her last brother at home, one of my good old hockey buddies, Brad is off at college in Calgary.

TRAVIS LINDQUIST has been burning up the track with the North East Alberta Track Club.

Crop storage: make it work for you

On first look, it appears that there should not be any problems with crop storage this year. A good stretch of dry weather lately, means most of the crop should come off dry. But, experience indicates that appearances could be deceiving. Crops have spoiled in other years when harvesting conditions appeared ideal.

■ 4-H Elk Point 4-H Multi Club organizes for 34th year

The Elk Point 4-H Multi Club is holding an organizational meeting on October 21 at the F.G. Miller High School at 7:00 pm in Lab 12. Prospective members must be 9 years old as of January 1, 1999. Tom Kurek and Tad Reed are spearheading a small engine project this year. There is interest in woodworking, food, craft, and photography projects as well as the traditional steer and heifer projects.

A big thanks to Lakeland Meat Processors for donating the beef for our year end party. Another big thanks to Valley Service Proprietors Allan and Delphine Young for treating the members to delicious pop-sicles on the June 25 highway cleanup.

Thanks also to the E-Can staff for donating their pop cans. We appreciate the tremendous community support.

Our club is collecting lead acid batteries for recycling. Batteries can be dropped off at the County Repair Shop battery disposal site until November 1.

Questions? Call Lorraine at 724-4317.

"Heating in crop storage bins can start in two ways," says Ron Hockridge, crop specialist cereals and oilseeds, with Alberta Agriculture, Food and Rural Development, Wetaskiwin. "First, the grain is still living so it respire and produces heat naturally. At higher temperatures respiration is faster so there is likely to be more activity in a grain that was put up hot at the outset. Secondly, there are usually weed seeds, pieces of plant and various contaminants in crops when they're harvested. These unwanted materials may be higher in moisture and start the process going. Insects and fungi that feed on the grain and contaminants also respire, giving off heat.

"Moisture rebound in crops after they go into storage, is a subject that producers talk about. This is explained in various ways, but it is safe to say that moisture may increase in the bin. It will also be higher in some areas of the bin than in others. These pockets become hot spots for biological activity. The problem seems to be worse in steel bins than in wooden bins that breathe, but it can happen in any storage facility."

Deterioration in storage is a higher risk in some crops than others. Fine seeds with little room for air movement between them tend to be of greater concern. Looking at the moisture content where the crop is considered dry is a good guideline for estimating relative risk.

"In a year such as this one, farmers can do a couple of things to ensure the safe storage of their crops," adds Hockridge. "Monitoring bins should be done often in the first few weeks to catch any problems at the beginning. If possible, aerate the grain to make sure it is both dry and cool for long term storage."

Several fact sheets that provide information on moisture and temperature suitable for grain storage are available at Alberta Agriculture district offices and at the publications office, 7000-113 Street, Edmonton, AB., T6H 5T6, including:

* Factors Affecting Deterioration of Stored Grain - Agdex FS 732-11

* Solar Grain Drying - Agdex FS 736-9

* Grain Drying with Natural Air - Agdex FS 736-12

* Movement of Natural Air Through Grain - Agdex 736-11

"I'm sure everyone is pleased with the good harvesting conditions at an early stage this year. Now it's important to minimize the hidden risks that can accompany these conditions," says Hockridge.

With more resources at their fingertips than ever before, Alberta's farmers are continually striving to provide the very best our soil has to offer. Technology has helped to improve food production while preserving, protecting and enriching the land for future generations.

We're proud to recognize the agri-progress of our area farmers as well as observe Agriculture Week.

Farmers deserve recognition for the excellent job they are doing.

The only thing ranchers want to throw in our streams.

Clean water is essential to life. Most people remember that occasionally, but ranchers are aware of it constantly. Guarding the purity of water isn't an option. It's a necessity - for our families, livestock and neighbours downstream. That's why we support the Cows & Fish Project, a program that makes it possible to raise cattle while preserving aquatic life and streamside vegetation. By doing this, we're living up to our values - like a cleaner environment. We're also looking after our favourite fishing holes and, like any good angler, we're not about to reveal their locations!

Agri-business management now a certificate program

On-the-job application of skills provided by participating agribusiness

Alberta Agriculture, Food and Rural Development's Green Certificate Program, an apprenticeship style competency based training program, has announced a new Agribusiness Management Certificate. This comprehensive training initiative brings together all factors of production and operations management, financial management, human resources, organizational planning, marketing, risk management, business development and enterprise management.

"As in all Green Certificate

Programs, the Agribusiness Management Certificate is based on an industry-approved curriculum with objective performance standards," says Don Bushe, consultant to Agriculture Education and Community Services, Alberta Agriculture

Food and Rural Development. "The curriculum sets out the knowledge to be learned and provides the benchmark for performance. On-the-job application of skills and knowledge is provided by the participating agribusiness."

A grant from the Farm Business Management Program (FBMP) provides participants with self-study video and print resources. Applying skills on-the-job is aided by contact with experts on key content topics using the conferencing facilities of the Internet.

As part of the program, trainees receive: up to 20 printed modules; as many as six video tapes; and, access to experts on-line.

On-line expert assistance includes, Dr. Len Bauer, noted rural economist, who heads the panel of experts presenting the basic economics, production management, risk, and financial topics and Lorne Owen, human resources expert, coordinates the discussion applying staffing topics. In addition, a panel of experts representing commodity groups and enterprises particular to the participants will be identified to guide the application of marketing theory.

"Agribusiness Management Training starts in November 1998 and continues through April 1999," says Bushe. "There are three testing periods where participants will be asked to demonstrate their mastery of the objectives. All participants in Agribusiness Management Training receive a Certificate of Participation. Each participant's training record monitors progress in earning a Green Certificate in Agribusiness Management. When the objectives and standards in the curriculum have been met, the Green Certificate in Agribusiness Management is granted."

OLD TIME HARVEST TECHNIQUES are now a thing of the past, except for a few farmers who like to hark back to earlier years with threshing demonstrations, such as this memorable occasion on a farm near St. Paul, where some retired farmers had a chance to show that they are still adept at pitching bundles into the clattering thresher.

A harvest of goodness

Hot and tasty meals for fall feasting

By Sherry Pelech
Review Contributor

Harvest time is always a busy time and nobody has energy to do more than just basic cooking. What you need is hearty, healthy and simple dishes that are easy to make and quick to assemble. So how about trying.

HARVEST SOUP #1

- 1 lb. ground beef
- 2 onions, diced
- 4 cups cold water
- 2 carrots, sliced
- 2 stalks celery, diced
- 2 potatoes, diced
- salt/pepper
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/4 tsp. Basil
- 1 20 oz. can tomatoes

Brown meat. Drain off fat and set beef aside. In 1 tablespoon of beef fat, saute onions until tender. Combine onions, water, carrots, celery, potatoes, salt and pepper to taste, bay leaf and basil. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat. Cover and simmer thirty minutes. Add reserved meat and tomatoes. Simmer ten minutes.

Or try this soup recipe:

HARVEST SOUP #2

- 4 slices bacon
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2-1/2 cups chicken broth
- 3 cups milk
- 1/2 cup raw rice
- 1/2 tsp. Oregano
- salt/pepper
- 1 - 10 oz. pkg. frozen peas and carrots
- 1 c. cold water
- 1 - 10 oz. pkg. frozen Brussel sprouts, thawed
- 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese, grated

Fry bacon with garlic until bacon is partially cooked. Add 1-1/2 cups broth, milk, rice, oregano and salt and pepper to taste. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer, covered, fifteen minutes. Add peas and carrots. Bring to boiling, reduce heat and simmer ten minutes. Combine remaining broth and water in saucepan. Quarter Brussels sprouts. Bring broth and water to a boil and add sprouts. Simmer ten minutes. Add sprouts with their cooking liquid to soup. Stir in cheese.

Or if you prefer a casserole, try this one. It is also called SHIPWRECK but in our house it was always known as:

SHUT-UP-AND-EAT-IT

- 2 big onions
 - 2-3 big potatoes
 - 1 lb. Hamburger
 - 1/2 cup raw rice
 - 1 cup diced celery
 - salt, pepper, paprika
 - 1 can tomato soup
 - 1 can boiling water
- Into the bottom of a buttered dish, slice the onions. Over this place thin slices of raw potatoes, then a thick layer of uncooked hamburger, the rice then the celery. Season each layer. Top with tomato soup and water. Cover and bake in moderate oven for 2 hours.

Meet your County Council election candidates

DIVISION 1

Allen Young (incumbent)

Allen Young is a lifelong resident of Division 1, and he and his wife Delphine, parents of five adult children, operate Valley Service near Lindbergh. Young has been a businessman most of his life, and has served one term on County Council. Young is seeking a second term on Council in order to continue the program of improvements in the area that he lobbied for during his first term, which include resurfacing of the highway west of Lindbergh, a turning lane at the entrance to Heinsburg and paving of the Murphy Oil road. If he is successful on election day, his top priorities would be to upgrade more of the local roads, to get the highway on the hill east of the Canadian Salt Plant widened and repaved, and to upgrade the Spring Park Road to Highway 41.

Why vote for him? Young says the "past three years answers that." In addition to his past accomplishments, Young feels he is the man for the job because he is readily accessible to the public and has had considerable experience in dealing with them.

Johnny Lypowy

Johnny Lypowy, 51, is a rancher and farmer in the Heinsburg area and has spent his entire life there. He is employed with Alberta Financial Services as an insurance salesman and adjuster, and has taken a leave of absence during his campaign. If elected, he will leave his position with AFS to devote ample time to County Council. Lypowy has also served on the local Rural Electrification Board and is presently on the board of the Clondonald Seed Cleaning Plant and is president of the SaskAlta Hockey League.

Lypowy feels he should be "putting something back into the community", and decided he could do this as a member of County Council, when several ratepayers asked him to put his name forward. He enjoys dealing with the public. Lypowy feels that as an elected official, he would have to be accountable and help the ratepayers to get a fair return for their tax dollars. He would voice the ratepayers' concerns at Council and deal with their concerns. He feels the County could be in a "trying situation" with the oil activity in a pause and possibly looking at abandoning some wells, which would lower the tax base and make it necessary to work hard to prevent increases in mill rates. He feels Council should work hand in hand with the province to obtain grants to improve the road system in the area.

Lypowy is experienced in dealing with large budgets in the adjusting field, and feels that it is imperative to be accountable "so we all get a fair return". He knows the people of Division 1 and is ready and willing to represent them. The recent drought has made the agricultural base a concern, and he feels that the County could work with the provincial government and through the Agricultural Service Board to get assistance for local farmers.

Did the Alberta
Heritage
Trust Fund go up in smoke?

No. (But it helped put out a few forest fires.)

Fact is, the fund works for Albertans every day. Last year, the investments in the $12.3 billion fund earned $922 million for Alberta's main budget. And, that budget pays for programs and services like health care, education, and environmental protection. It also helps keep our taxes the lowest in Canada.

Ray Danyluk is known as a vocal and visible member of the community. He and his wife Lorraine have three children, and his concerns for education and youth has influenced him to run for a third term on St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1, where he is in by acclamation. Danyluk has spent the past two terms on County Council and served as reeve for three years. He has served on numerous Council committees and is the Northeast Zone President of the Alberta Organization of Municipal Districts and Counties.

Danyluk is seeking another term because he believes he is able to contribute, he believes he has experience and expertise, and he believes that the direction of open democratic government must continue. He "very much believes" in having a prepared, knowledgeable council to deal with the issues of the area. He ran before and is running again because he believes in putting the concerns of Division 2 forward. He has been involved in many aspects of the community, and he feels he has "a finger on the concerns of the division and county."

Danyluk feels that communication with the public is a top priority, and has strived to provide that in the past three years. He feels it is very important that the ratepayers know what is happening so they can comment, although he acknowledges that it would be "easier to be silent and not receive criticism." For example, contrary to current rumor, there is no pension plan for councillors in the County of St. Paul. Danyluk advocates safety and service for ratepayers, which encompasses having the best possible maintenance of roads and highways. He feels the municipality should provide the best possible service to ratepayers with the funding that is available. He is an advocate of balanced budgets and of being efficient, effective and providing uniform, equitable services to all county residents. Danyluk feels that he can give the ratepayers fair representation, promote accountability and will bring their concerns forward and represent them to the best of his ability. He has fought hard to improve communication between Council and the public and wants that to continue. He has no problem with explaining what he has done on Council in the past and the reasons behind it, and plans to remain vocal and visible.

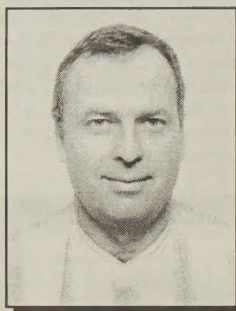

Orest Boyko

Orest Boyko, 42, and his wife Lynne have three sons at home. He was born and raised in the Elk Point area and actively farming a second generation family farm. He also owns and operates a small oil field business, Richland Oil field Services Ltd.

Boyko feels that by putting his name forward for County Council, he is giving the voters a choice. He seeks to serve and represent the views of the residents of Division 2 and to treat all ratepayers fairly and equally.

Boyko wishes to encourage and create an environment of cooperation between agriculture, oil and gas, and a strong service industry. He would strive to regulate and administer taxpayers' money in the most efficient manner possible and feels that in no way should a government of any level be in business or competing against taxpayers.

If elected, Boyko would hold the best interests of Division 2 as his primary dedication. He is a good listener, very willing to respond to ratepayers, and is well known at the provincial level of government.

We're concerned about

- The quality of our students' education
- Parent council effectiveness
- Transportation issues

So what are the other issues?

I'm sure many of you have had problems but have solutions been found?

Has the past elected board handled these issues with any success?

Simply, my supporters and I feel that our children are sacrificing a quality education because of complacency.

To discuss these issues and others that plague our education system, please feel free to call me at 645-2159.

If Elected I Would:

- Re-evaluate administrative functions focusing on transportation, property maintenance and instruction.
- Maximize the return for your education tax dollars.

Jennifer bids goodbye with autumn storytime

By Jennifer Caudron
Temporary Librarian

I am finishing my final week as temporary librarian, and by the time this article is in print Karina will have returned from her holiday. I have enjoyed working in the library so much I plan to return occasionally as a volunteer.

Storytime was great fun this past week as we read a story about autumn and glued torn up pieces of yellow, orange, and red paper (resembling leaves) on to a picture of a bare tree. We had to make sure to glue leaves on the ground beneath the tree as it seems that is where the majority of leaves are these days.

As usual the library is full of great books to read. To name a few ...

Adult Fiction

Only days from retirement, the CIA's deadliest assassin comes up against an enemy he cannot handle — his own boss, the director of the CIA in The Eleventh Commandment by Jeffrey Archer.

A powerful, psychotic killer escapes from prison and returns to his hometown to seek revenge on a deaf woman living alone with her son on an isolated ranch in Unspeakable by Sandra Brown.

Adult Non-Fiction

If you need to set up a network at the office but aren't sure what a network is, let alone how to set one up, Networking for Dummies gives you the help you need. Doug Lowe explains everything you need to know to select, set up, use and manage a computer network.

Juvenile Fiction

First the monster eats them, then he can look just like them, making it easy to continue to devour them. Can the gang in Spooksville survive this new monster? The Creepy Creature by Christopher Pike.

Juvenile Non-Fiction

Get all the information about elections in Canada, laid out in a fun and easy with many interesting facts in Canada Votes by Linda Granfield.

(Continued from Front Page) true information," Buck said. These included the unavailability of daily bus service, difficulty in finding food service for meetings and a place to entertain visitors, and lack of in-town printing services.

Buck has sent a letter to Vermilion's mayor expressing concern that an executive committee recommendation had been taken to the Vermilion Town Council and their economic development committee for the preparation of a presentation for the relocation of the headquarters. He feels this gives Vermilion an unfair advantage over other member communities. Copies of the letter were sent to all board members.

Town manager Myron Goyan and Councillor Bill Schuhmacher have been appointed from the Town to sit on a committee which will formulate a response to the list of restrictions and criteria. Dave Yake and Richard Lavoie from the Chamber have agreed to sit on the committee as well.

THANK YOU

YAREMKEVICH-BRENDZAN
(Zukiwsky), Kay

We would like to express our sincere thanks for the many acts of kindness we received during the recent loss of our dear wife, mother and baba, Kay Yaremkevich-Brendzan (Zukiwsky).

Special thanks to Dr. Ramful and the nursing staff at the Elk Point Health Centre and to our best friend, Mary Bochan. Thank you to our friends and relatives for their support and for the flowers, cards, donations and gifts of food. We are grateful to the Elk Point Seniors for preparing the lunch, to Father John Lipinski for his prayers and words of comfort and to Yewchin's Funeral Chapel for all their assistance.

Your thoughtfulness and kindness will always be remembered.

For 60 years, we've been a part of Albertans' treasured dreams.

Dreams.

Dreams as diverse as the people of Alberta. Bold.

Independent. Visionary.

Alberta's treasured dreams.

Since 1938, Alberta Treasury Branches has been investing in these dreams, nurturing them, and helping them to grow. The dream to own a home. The dream to start a business. The dream to make a difference.

By helping Alberta's dreamers ...
our farmers, small business owners, people from all walks of life, perhaps even you... we've seen Alberta bloom and grow. Into the envy of the country.

On this, the occasion of our 60th anniversary, we are more interested than ever in your dreams. We are building more branches and adding the new services and innovations that will fuel Albertans' ambitions into the next century.

We have been privileged to be part of the dream that is Alberta. And we are looking forward to helping that dream continue to grow in the years to come.

So, thank you from the 3,600 people in our 276 locations throughout the province...for letting us help you make your treasured dreams come true.

Call or visit us today
with your dreams.
